Capricious is pleased to announce the release of RANDY — a 300-plus page anthology of Randy zines spanning 2010-2013. Initiated by A.K. Burns and Sophie Morner, RANDY was an experiment in publishing, a bold document of queer, trans-feminist arts and activism.

Created under a tidal shift in policy, cultural norms and technology; RANDY explored the collapsing and reconfiguring of queerness in public/private spaces and the so-called female within feminism, queer politics, esthetics and the arts.

Shapeshifting from print to performance to nightclub, RANDY became a working index of this transitional narrative, simultaneously looking forward and back through intergenerational images and conversations.

RANDY: 2010-2013 collects these urgent, low-budget zines into one compendium book for the first time in the light of full-color.

Contains over 100 interviews, conversations and projects including work by Martha Wilson, Wu Tsang, Leilah Weinraub + Venus X, Cass Bird, Nicole Eisenmen, Niv Acosta, Colin Self, Katherine Hubbard + MPA, boychild, Stanya Kahn, Sadie Benning, Keltie Ferris among many others.
